

Dear Parents,

Here we are in the final term of Primary School! The last seven years have gone by quickly and we are entering our last block of ten weeks.

For most students this is a very exciting time as the seniors of our school. For others this is a challenge to contain this feeling and continue to remain on task and working within the boundaries.

Just a brief reminder that our pupil free day for term 4 is on Monday 19th October.

This term in English the class will be writing an investigative report. This will require the children to compare four food items and share their findings with an audience. The task will resemble the “Value Hunter” section of the Sunday Mail and with food tasting involved we are sure they will all give it their best!

Looking at newspapers, how they are organised and putting together one of their own featuring new articles as well as work from the previous terms will be a project the classes will be involved in during the second part of this term. Students will present their newspaper in a Microsoft Publisher document and will be shared with others in the class.

The students in 7M and 7A have been working all year with their buddy classes in year 1. These activities have included reading, English and maths support as well as help with computer work. This program has benefited both year levels and to say “thank you” and “goodbye” a small party lunch has been planned for Wednesday 25th November. The children are asked to bring a plate of food to share with others.

All year 7 students look forward to the Final Fortnight. These last two weeks of school, give the children opportunities to explore our city, travel on public transport to various places of cultural and tourist interest and become a part of the general public while remaining focussed on the correct behaviour befitting our Graduating class of 2009. More information about this time and activities planned will be forwarded later in the term.

In anticipation for a great final term in 2009
Sandra Anderson and Cheryl Martin
